The law "on state policy on youth" adopted on September 14, 2016 as a new stage of development of the state policy on youth today is of great importance. This law gives a legal definition to the concept of the state policy on young people of the first half and it is expressed in the form of "a system of socio-economic, organizational and legal measures implemented by the state, which provides for the creation of conditions for the social formation of young people and their development of their potential.

Radical reforms carried out in all spheres of social life, sent a radical change in attitude towards young people. It has risen to the level of youth interest, Public Policy. The idea of the benefit and priority of young people in the socio-political consciousness is strengthening day by day. And such relations are dictated by the fact that young people have moral, physical, socio-political, perfection.

The rapid development of society from the path of democracy, the success of the reforms carried out, in many respects, is connected with the level of socio-political activity of young people. Because, socially-politically mature young people become active participants of democratic reforms. And such processes are inextricably linked with the democratization of Public Administration.

Currently, 30 percent of the population of our country is young people. In the third part of the strategy of action for the correct Organization of the issue of young people with such great power, the priorities of the development of the social sphere, the issues of "improving public policy on young people" are clearly defined. In particular, the issues of effective organization of activities of state authorities and management bodies, educational institutions, youth and other organizations are also considered in the implementation of the state policy on youth.

At present, issues such as raising the socio-political activity, spirituality, legal culture of young people, acquisition of secular knowledge, productive use of advanced technologies are becoming one of the priority tasks. Because, to love the native land, to live with the grief of the land, to have a high spirituality, not to be indifferent to the events that are happening around it, remains the main source of the current globalization processes. And in order for our youth to embody such qualities in themselves, it is necessary to strive for high noble goals, have a strong will, work tirelessly. Because, not only young people who are socially and politically active, legally educated, ideologically mature, have a high spirituality, can become a participant in large-scale reforms carried out by our state. The development of society, the prosperity of Homeland, relies on such socially and politically active young people. Every young man and girl of our country should live and work conscientiously, living clean and honest, feeling such responsibility in the heart.

In his speeches and lectures, the president of our country Shavkat Mirziyoyev always emphasizes that the radical renewal of society depends on a harmonious generation, broad-minded, spiritually and morally mature, healthy, fully aware of its civil responsibility. Because, the issue of youth has become one of the priority tasks of the present. Taking into account all these, our esteemed President Shavkat Mirziyoyev supports the implementation of scientific and intellectual potential of youth, innovative ideas. It also carries out large-scale reforms aimed at the productive use of the opportunities created, the further increase in the socio-political activity of young people. The youth of our country was united into a single union with the highest goal – the prosperity of Homeland, the peace of the country.

It should be noted that young people studying and working in foreign countries have not been ignored by our government and the President. In particular, when President Shavkat Mirziyoyev was in the United States of America, he had a sincere conversation with young specialists studying and working there. He heard the problems and wishes of our youth abroad and made a proposal to return them to our country and carry out activities in prestigious organizations in our country. He called for their contribution to the development of our country. The care of our president to our young people abroad, the conditions created for them in our country, the wave of young people and willingly agreed to such an offer, and many of them decided to return to their native lands. At the same time, many of these young people returned to their native lands and work selflessly, making their contribution to the prosperity of our country.

The socio-political activity of young people is also a direct link to their political, legal culture, ideological, spiritual, moral education. Because, such training is of great importance with the focus on the protection, promotion and development of a particular idea. If we look at the history of ideas of different eras, we will witness that the history of mankind is closely connected with the history of ideas. The idea of each system and its ideology, formed on the basis of this idea, is determined by the sphere of influence in society. It is known to us that any idea, as a product of individual thinking, arises in the minds of any person. If it has a social meaning or if it is able to influence the development of society, then it becomes a common idea. If we take it in a broad sense, the idea and ideology unite the society in the destiny, which reflects universal values, the requirements of humanity, the desires and aspirations of the people, fully manifests its potential and opportunities.

Educational work among young people, such as ideological, spiritual, moral, political-legal, cannot increase their socio-political activity without being properly established, and the democratic reforms carried out do not yield any results either. It means that all the young people of our country should deeply understand the fundamental essence of socio-political ideas that serve our independence, while being socio-political active, they should feel the preservation of their holy homeland as a shadow of an eye. Because, without understanding oneself, without uniting around a single idea, no people can fully manifest their power. Taking these into account, it is necessary to conduct ideological education, which is the source of national pride formation in all educational and educational institutions of our country.

The historical roots of socio-political activity – the way of life of our ancestors, way of thinking, practical activity, creative work, traditions, values and all positive qualities were based on their strong faiths.

Because, a people who know their own, appreciate themselves, will never, ever give their own destiny, their own man to someone. Only a person who knows his dignity loves his homeland, his people.

The socio-political activity of young people plays a special role in the processes of democratic reforms and modernization carried out in society. Socio-political activity is improved at the stage of development of society, based on requirements and needs, existing conditions and opportunities. From this point of view-on the side, due to independence, in the formation of the foundations of the legal state and civil society, the socio-political activity of young people acquires a new essence. The following are the proposals aimed at increasing the socio-political activity of young people:

- first of all, it is necessary to conduct moral education among young people;
- it is necessary to increase the political and legal culture of young people;
- to carry out ideological education among young people, to integrate the idea of national independence;
- formation of a sense of Homeland in the minds of young people;
- support the intellectual potential of young people, ideas of innovation;
- Education of young people on the basis of national and universal values.

In this regard, it is necessary to pay special attention to one more thing, that a society that has not developed spiritually cannot form a person as a political subject. Life experiences show that the spiritual and educational level of society-in addition to increasing the legal consciousness, political culture of young people, forms the ability to be patient, compassionate, faith-loving, to choose a just, rational path in various socio-political processes. The increase of educated, politically mature young people leads to an increase in the number of democratic views, renewal of the thinking of society and improvement of the political consciousness of citizens.

In conclusion, such high human qualities as self-awareness, national pride, first of all, political consciousness is one of the processes associated with the level of socio-political activity. The power and power of democratic political values, eloquent words are manifested not only by the adoption of the laws enacted on paper, but also on the basis of the socio-political activity of young people, as well as their high political consciousness, which is the main factor in their application to life. The success of radical reforms in society is also a phenomenon connected with political consciousness in many aspects.

It should be separately recognized that due to independence, young people of our country feel at heart that it is necessary to conscientiously participate in the socio-political life of society in the management of state and society and to have such aspects as being socially active. One of the most important urgent tasks of the youth of the present period is socio-political active, spiritual, considering the laws sacred, studying them conscientiously and turning them into their own way of life.

Proceeding from these, it is necessary to realize that the young people of the period of independence should deeply feel their fate closely connected with the future of the country, unite around the idea and ideology that serves for the development of the Homeland. To preserve the independence of our country and to protect and strengthen it will become a high value.

Proceeding from the above theoretical conclusions, we give the following recommendations as a factor for increasing the socio-political activity of young people, ensuring their status in the development of society:

First of all, it is necessary to give young people an understanding of the essence and significance of the large-scale reforms carried out in our country;

Secondly, to reveal the importance of the ideas put forward for the development of the Republic of Uzbekistan in the solution of youth problems;

Thirdly, to reveal the essence of the reforms carried out by our state in recent years, on the youth;

Fourthly, to ensure that young people actively participate in socio-political events (that is, in elections and other political events);

Fifthly, it is necessary to realize self-consciousness in the process of education, national pride, to break into the hearts of the common property;

Sixthly, it is necessary to properly organize the leisure time of young people, to engage in physical activity.
