At the present stage, New Uzbekistan is going through a systemic period of reforms, strategic goals, building a democratic state with a developed civil society. Implemented reforms affect all social groups, form their attitude to the processes taking place in society. Today, the permanent population of Uzbekistan is 35.4 million people, of which 49.7% are women. This indicator shows the importance of increasing the role of women in political activity. Therefore, understanding the modern role of women is crucial for the analysis of political activity.

The relevance of the study of women's political activity in Uzbekistan can be seen in the influence of women's social experience in political decision-making. Increasing the political activity of women in our country ensure that the ongoing reforms will be more effective. In our country, this issue has risen to the level of public policy and is now becoming a priority. "... our most important duty is to actively pursue the state policy on employment, taking into account the living conditions of women, creating all-round opportunities to alleviate the burden of our sisters, increasing the role and prestige of women in our socio-political life."¹.

It is of theoretical and practical importance to study ways to increase the political activity of women in the performance of these tasks, as well as political-theoretical analysis and finding solutions. Extensive work is being carried out in our country to increase the political activity of women. In order to accelerate the political activity of our women in all spheres, a number of reforms are being implemented.

Decree No. PD-5325 of February 2, 2018 "On measures to radically improve the activities in the field of support of women and strengthening the institution of the family", March 7, 2019 No. PD-4235 "Further strengthening the guarantees of women's labor rights and Measures to Support Entrepreneurship", Resolution of ZRU-562 of September 2, 2019 "On guarantees of equal rights and opportunities for women and men", ZRU-736 of December 9, 2021 "On additional measures to ensure the rights of women in difficult social situations" Resolution No. PD-146 of March 1, 2022 "On measures to organize the activities of the State Committee for Family and Women”, Resolution No. PD-81 of March 2, 2022 “On work with families and women, mahalla and other normative documents in the field. As a result of these reforms, the number of women in public administration in our country is growing. It should be noted that our women governors did not exist until that time. Today, the number of our female governors has increased.

We note that the head of our state pays special attention to the full support of women, the creation of all conditions for them, the rise of women and family issues to the level of state policy, the support of all heads of departments and organizations and active participation in its implementation. is a gratifying situation. Not only our country, but also the world community, influential international organizations and foreigners are interested in the unprecedented work being done in our country on the social protection of women, especially those in difficult social situations, with disabilities and unemployed. they are doing

In turn, if we look at the current state of affairs around the world, the data show that half of the world's population, or even more, are women, but in many complex areas of human activity and society, ie knowledge, specialization, skills, skills participation is extremely low. Also, women now make up more than 60 percent of the world's extremely poor and two-thirds of the illiterate population.

Two-thirds of children who are not enrolled in school are also girls. According to the World Health Organization, one in three women worldwide (35%) has experienced some form of violence in their lifetime. Today's demand is to help women come up with new approaches, new ideas and new initiatives, to ensure their active participation in the ongoing reforms, innovations, political processes in our country. As the President of the Republic of Uzbekistan Sh. Mirziyoyev said in his speech at the twentieth plenary session of the Senate of the Oliy Majlis of the Republic of Uzbekistan, "Today, every woman must be an active and proactive participant, not an observer of democratic processes." This call, in turn, imposes a special responsibility on all ministries, departments and organizations, as well as on political parties.

It is certainly gratifying that the political prestige of women in the Republic of Uzbekistan is growing. Increasing the political prestige of women plays an important role in the process of modernizing society.

In conclusion, it should be noted that women are the future of society. As long as there is a woman, the family will prosper and the society where there is a woman will prosper. A country that respects women will always prosper.
